CLEVELAND AND HENDRICKS.

The Independents and Democrats of this town held their second rally and parade, Tuesday evening. At 7 o'clock the Cleveland Guards, attired in their new uniforms, under command of Capt. James Dennithorne and headed by the Cochasset drum corps, paraded the principal streets and proceeded to the depot. Here the speakers of the evening, Mr. W. C. A. Patee and Dr. Wm. Everett, both of Quincy, were received and the procession was again formed and headed by the C. M. A. brass band proceeded to the Town Hall. After short addresses at the hall, necessarily short as the speakers were obliged to remain on the 9:30 train, and three cheers for the candidates the meeting was brought to a close. It is rumored that the Democrats and Independents will close the campaign by a grand demonstration, torchlight parade, etc., on Monday evening, but no official notice has yet appeared to that effect.

We note one unusual fact with respect to the teachers of the schools of been for a number of years residents of the town and we think all but one are natives. Besides these we have quite a number teaching in other towns.

The Rif-fall has at last flung to

Nov. 4th will record another in their favor. At this moment we are remcal excitement has said that, "Forgiveness is one thing and cononation another."

We hear that the people of the Harbor have gone in for political co-operation.

The machine to press sugar out of sorghum at the Old Mechanics' fair is attracting considerable attention. The sorghum was raised by Benj. P. Ware of Marblehead, for the occasion.

There is an immense pressure brought to bear upon the sorghum. It is a large lateral pressure, operated by steam, and is computed to be about 400 tons against perpendicular iron plates or boxes, measuring on the surface about a feet square. The sorghum is first cut up, by a cutting machine operated by steam, into half inch pieces, and then up to a tank above by small revolving boxes and then shovelled into the flat, iron perpendicular sliding boxes above described, the cut sorghum is then steamed, to soften it, and then the immense pressure of 400 tons is brought to bear upon it, the sweet syrup is squeezed out and is seen flowing from the boxes with a receptacle resting on the floor, this is then forced up into a large tank by a steam pump, which runs into a boiler fitted with steam pipes. It is then boiled and the scum which comes is allowed to pass off, it is then forced into an evaporator where steam pipes are laid and heated, the heat from which evaporates the water from the syrup, the sugar is then deposited in shallow pans and allowed to cool, it then crystallizes, and we have crystallized sugar. This is a new process.

an improved process over that used in the South, and is expected to be introduced and operated at the world's fair at New Orleans. Mr. Boomer is the operator and proprietor of the machine. This week they propose to try common field corn stalks and see what per cent of sugar can be pressed therefrom. This will be an interesting, a very attractive and useful experiment. The fair closes on Saturday night of the present week.

What a Bostonian has to say about the Duke.

MARSHFIELD, Oct. 4, 1884.

To the Editor of the Boston Transcript: I have the pleasure to inform you that yesterday I crossed Brock Rock and the wild mountains. The waves are dashing against the old rock, beyond which the boats are moored. The guns are now on their way South from northern latitudes, and the species of fish and birds are now to be found in the wild mountains.

Thousands of deer birds have been shot and the gunners are now on their way South.

There are many birds in the
